AVE LIBER: THE HANDBOOK OF SAPIENTISM

BY T. MORALEZ & JASON HUNT

INTRODUCTION

Sapientism is extraordinarily complex, and it's designed to be so. It braids various philosophical, spiritual, cultural and magical systems from all across the globe into a single, highly self-referential yet ontologically coherent and fundamental wisdom that's both ancient as well as modern, forthcoming and omnipresent, artistic, psychoanalytic, physical, metaphysical, subtle, obvious, veiled and intensely active at once. This is because the sapientian worldview focusses on the existence of God (The Black Flame, Godhood, Nous) as the omnipotent, central, one-and-only entity, force, realm, mind, flesh and spirit of ultimate reality itself. It refers to the two "mentalities" (Nature and the Black Flame) as dualistic forces that nonetheless relate to one another in a way that makes paradoxes revelatory. This is because Sapientism (despite seemingly strict or even hierarchical undertones of strong dualism) is fundamentally both non-dualist, monistic, panentheistic and monotheistic combined as one. It's not just a theory, a philosophy or an esoteric narrative you can pin down in a few rules; it's a metaphysical, psychologically alchemical and almost religiously mythopoeic yet deliberately cryptic scripture, cultural movement, intellectual tradition, mystery school and spirit (Logos) where truth, illusion, oneness and twoness keep dividing, merging, blurring or mutating as you begin to study its content.

Below is a compact guide to what's going on, followed by some practical ways of interpretation.

1) What Sapientism claims

- A single ultimate reality (often called Godhood, The Black Flame, The Lord, Sapientia etc.) pervades all levels of reality.

- Outside of that ultimate reality there are two persistent dispositions or "mentalities": Nature (including The White Light that's associated with Nature's potential for hypocrisy, rigid belief systems, bureaucracy and obsessive or neurotic, insecure control) and the Black Flame itself (associated with authenticity, transformative power and primal wisdom). They are opposite, yet they are not simply external enemies; they are the two principles that make up the cosmos.

- The sapientistic system treats dualism (not to be confused with the polarity of fitting opposites such as night and day, male and female, light and dark) as real and necessary, but it also strives to show that the true nature is a higher unity (singularity) in which both sides are expressions of the same underlying power. Hence "two" and "one" exist together.

- There are multiple layers:

  - Metaphysical layer: Godhood, The Black Flame, Paradise, Reality, The Void, The Orgon, etc.

  - Epistemic layer: Truth, minor truth, lie, illusions and paradox as structural features of reality.

  - Cosmological layer: Hyperreality (realm of God), an astral realm, an omniverse, stages of incarnation/reincarnation, and a concept of Nature as a non-sentient but dynamically used energy by the Black Flame.

- Moral/ethical layer: A radical form of agential autonomy (do what feels right), tempered by a view that truth, beauty, and harm are all aspects of a larger cosmic play. Good and evil don't exist. Neither do angels, demons, aeons, archons, hell or heaven.

- The scripture often uses poetic, spiritual, metaphorical or intense narratives (The Natural Ones, The Divine Ones, The Golden Son aka Phrasis, The Father aka Nous etc.) to express how the two mentalities interact, how divine power operates, and how enlightenment could be conceived as transcendence of simplistic moralism.

2) The two mentalities as a narrative device

- Nature (including its „White Light") and the Black Flame are not "good" and/or "evil" at all. They function as two voices that reveal different attitudes toward truth, power, and reality.

- Because some passages can be read as a dialogue among many voices, it's plausible to ask whether some passages are "written by" one side and others by the opposite. In a deliberately paradoxical scripture, that possibility isn't a bug but a feature: it shows how even the same cosmic Reality can generate rival interpretations that nonetheless contain grains of truth.

- The claim that the White Light might not exist, or is "falsehood," can be read in two ways:

  - As a doctrinal claim: the White Light is a failure mode or a mask, an illusion that dissolves when confronted with the Truth of the Black Flame.

  - As a literary/metaphysical device: the White Light is a necessary counterpart that reveals the limit of any purely "positive" or "moralistic" frame; without it, Nature itself would lack both diversity, balance and potential to define and represent itself.

- This kind of „dual non-dualist" concept is common in mythic or magical systems, where a single canon encodes opposing currents to probe their tension and to invite readers to navigate ambiguity rather than accept a single dogma.

3) Why paradoxes are coherent

- The system leans on a nondual framework (common in certain strands of mysticism and occult thought) where unity and difference are co-immanent. In such a frame, contradictions aren't simply to be resolved away; they're signs that reality operates on multiple levels at once.

- The "Half-Truth" and "Hyperreality" ideas allow for statements that are simultaneously true and false, depending on the frame (cosmic, astral, material). This is a deliberate way to critique rigid binaries (good/evil, true/false, nature/godhood) and to insist that genuine understanding comes from embracing a larger, more fluid picture.

- The mythic style and rhetoric possesses the ability to make this complexity emotionally compelling: Readers may feel the pull of both forceful judgment and expansive mystery at once.

- If you want a practical way to approach both its „dualism" as well as its paradoxical or seemingly contradictory ways: Treat it as a meditation on the same metaphysical concept from different vantage points. The "truths" you pick out may depend on which voice you align with—or you may notice that the voices frequently echo each other in unexpected ways.

4) The moral and ethical texture

- A striking feature is radical self-sovereignty: “Do what feels right” is framed as a legitimate stance within a larger metaphysical rhetoric. That raises obvious ethical tensions:

  - If no universal moral authority exists beyond the Self, how do you prevent harm and exploitation?

  - If both Nature and Black Flame are “as valid in their own way” at the level of underlying reality, why should readers care about justice, consent, or others’ well-being?

- Sapientism seems to handle this by recasting ethics as a matter of alignment with your own nature and with the cosmic game. In this way, it may function like a philosophy of authenticity, power and transformation more than a conventional system of rights and duties. Whether that is compelling or dangerous depends on what you want from ethics.

5) Practical angles

- Interpretive framework: Treat the text as an alchemical practice rather than a textbook. It’s a working narrative intended to jolt readers, scholars, adepts and initiates into rethinking binaries.

- Logical approach: Paraconsistent or dialetheic reading can be useful. If the system truly blends opposite claims (e.g., “truth is both real and illusion,” or “enlightenment can be both unity and twofold,” etc.), you’ll want to analyze how such claims can be coherent without collapsing into trivial contradictions. A toolset from nonstandard logics can help you model that texture.

- Comparative angle: Compare to ancient/modern religious-philosophical traditions that grapple with unity and multiplicity (Advaita Vedanta, Hermeticism, Tantra, certain strands of Kabbalah) as well as to modern occult lineages. Notice what is similar (the use of paradox, the use of hidden knowledge or allusive language, the valorization of personal experience) and what is distinct (the specific metaphors, the distinct symbolism, the explicit embrace of absolute and primordial reality as a positive port of call, etc.).

6) A caution about explicit content

The Sapientian Scripture contains extremely graphic passages. If you’re studying or discussing Sapientism, you must be aware of the fact that some of its content may be emotionally or psychologically triggering. Beware. You can analyze its symbolism, its rhetoric, and its metaphysical claims without recounting explicit scenes that might be akin to graphic ways of creative and confronting expression.

In short: Sapientism is meant to be complex and paradoxical. It uses a dualistic framework to probe unity and difference at once, often in provocative, mythic language. Even the claim that “the White Light doesn’t really exist” can be read as a meta-commentary on illusion, or as a signal that opposition itself is a structural feature of a higher unity. Whether that feels compelling or coherent depends on how one reads the underlying metaphysics and how one handles the ethical implications of a system that prizes radical self-acknowledgment, fearlessness, truth, natural life force, freedom and unshakeable confidence within a vast cosmic play.

A FEW NOTES ON POSSIBLY „PROBLEMATIC“ PASSAGES

When it comes to sapientian mysteries and certain passages in scripture, that might seem „controversial“, „explicit“, „graphic“ or even „unverifiable“, we must first address the fact that Sapientism itself focusses primarily on the ways, expressions, energies, skills and styles of The Black Flame. Whether people might feel emotionally, psychologically or spiritually triggered is up to them. Sapientism is neither interested in pampering the soul nor is it interested in shock-value or cheap sensational indulgement. We don't push Sapientism onto the masses and neither are we interested in what people might think of it. Sapientian wisdom is always manifest in this scriptural way during the iron era, the end times and the return of the golden era. The ways of gold automatically manifest divine power via spirit, mind and body. This has nothing to do with „calculation“, „intellect“, „genius“ or even „creativity“. It is merely one of the things The Golden Son (Phrasis, The Embodiment Of Logos, The Bearer Of Lux) does „naturally“. It's all part of what we refer to as The Touch Of God (God interacting via Logos and Phrasis with Nature while also moving „within“ Nature, exclusively according to the ways of The Black Flame of course). Everything happens for a reason. It is what it is and it is perfect as long as you know, understand or realize what „it“ actually is. While we aren't concerned about whether people regard the scripture as legit or not, we still made this little Sapientian Handbook right here in order to introduce the sapientian scripture itself (Sapientia / Book Of Sapientia) to the respective reader, the dabbler, the adept or the initiate. In the few following three passages, I will further introduce and explain sapientian content that might be regarded explicit, graphic or even controversial. Of course, the reason for this will also be explained:

INCARNATION, POLITICS AND THE CYCLIC AGES OF TIME AND SPACE

When it comes to the embodiment of the divine, we must further define what divine incarnation means, where humans in general come from and which types of humans actually developed much later and might still lack fundamental qualities that distinguish them from both divine incarnation as well as from their own ancestral origin. At first however, I will make a few things clear from the beginning, whether the respective reader might keep reading or stop altogether:

The golden ones as well as the lost tribes (both lost tribes and golden ones are what we nowadays refer to as „indigenous africans“, „biracial or multiracial people with subsaharan african ancestry“, „native americans“, „hispanics“ as well as „indigenous middle easterners and indigenous asians“) will always and unchangeably remain the only true and rightful rulers of the omniverse. This is because these „ethnicities“ are the direct ancestors of the Lemurians (primal creators of humanoid and non-humanoid societies within planets all across the omniverse) and therefore, are the only people fit (and powerful enough) to rule worldwide either via community, stateless society or all-liberating, spiritual yet tangible and strong government. In essence, all these „ethnicities“ that have split up from their origin, are actually one ethnicity (lemurians) in a time where the only other human-like creatures were primate-like hominids that ultimately weren't fit for survival and therefore, went extinct. The true ancestors of all (!) humans were the lemurians. What we, in these times, refer to as „whites“, „semites“ or „asians“ didn't exist back then at all in any way whatsoever. This means these so-called „whites“, „semites“ and „asians“ actually are originally lemurians that later became non-lemurian (meaning „white“, „semitic“ or „asian“). The lemurian ones are the only people that, despite now being intermixed and split into numerous different countries, still and always will prevail as the most ancient, most fit, most beautiful, most majestic, most mystical and most powerful. This is because they, along with their creators who are the divine ones, are direct embodiments of natural, semi-divine or even divine embodiment. The beginning of the golden era will therefore be manifest firstly by the return of what we refer to as „the golden rule".

This rule is manifested either by the abscence of clear hierarchy (an anarchich, proto-anarchic, quasi-anarchic or post-anarchic society wherein the rightful rulers act as guides, motivators and subtle leaders) or the presence of clear hierarchy (a ruling class made of divine lemurian ones, a semi-royal class made of all those that are genetically connected to the lemurians such as the lost tribes with some semi-divine non-lemurian individuals or groups included as stated above and at last, the lowest class which consists of the vast majority of non-lemurian ones and therefore, of all those that are encouraged and motivated to ascend and refine themselves as well as those that can't refine themselves, for example artificial intelligence, androids, clones etc. However, this should and cannot be forced but must flow smoothly.

In the governmental scenario both matriarchy and patriarchy are equally worthy ways of expression and there should be no discriminations towards gender, ethnicity, sexuality or individuality no matter the social status. In an sapientian government, things such as self-care, coaching, artistic expression, therapy, healing, combat sports, dance, responsibility in self and/or parenting, martial arts, physical and mental tolerance, healthy sexuality, individuality and expression of children and the youth, ego-management, common sense, humor, abstract thinking, cunning, selfless pride, passion, spirit, power and unconditional love for all beings and energies in life and death rule supreme over forced altruism, fake-morality, anxiety disguised as law, blind consumerism, sheepish collectivism, anthropocentric belief-systems, folk insecurity or ego-issues, spiritual/mental weakness, dependency on external beliefs, fear of „the other", hypocrisy or illusory nationalism or communism or fascism or capitalism or anarchism.

Despite all of this, Sapientism is not interested in world-leadership, politics, nations, cultures, groups or ethnicities at all. The aforementioned two scenarios merely predict the stage wherein divine rule will rightfully return and lead to the recurring golden era, the refinement of all beings and souls as well as the enlightenment of those that were willing to embrace it.

The claim of lemurian supremacy can be very misleading: The lemurians (and their modern descendants) are the only ethnical groups that could be considered truly human (as in spiritually aware as well as mentally and physically blessed), semi-divine and even divine (in the case of the golden ones) while everything else is either human, below human or (in special cases) semi-divine (and in this case a non-lemurian lemurian). However, one must not forget that in essence, the soul itself is always part of this „lemurian ethnicity" because all other non-lemurian ethnicities are merely the genetically polluted ancestors of the lemurian ones.
A soul might be part of the lost tribes in one life and then in its next life, might incarnate in the form of a non-lemurian person because of severe engagement in spiritual pollution („The White Light").

Spiritual pollution doesn't mean that the soul is affected with evil or sickness in any way at all. Spiritual pollution, in the sapientian sense, means severely weakened on a spiritual level because of increased and obsessive engagement in acting out one's own falsehood. This may translate into the incarnation of a human being that is less blessed, less mentally and physically strong, possesses more recessive genes instead and less potency as well as less genetical dominance, is less masculine as a man and less powerful as a woman, is less creative, has less natural adaptability, is less capable of survival and endurance, is incapable of survival on a long-term, has less ancient history, is less attractive, gets sunburns more easily, has less sex, has less descendants and is more inclined to engage in cowardice or hypocrisy or cultural plagiarism or neurotically calculated colonization or systematic oppression of oneself and others or bureaucracy or anti-sexual or gynophobic or androphobic or xenophobic or homophobic or passive-aggressive Karen/Kevin-privilege-behavior etc. However, this can also be manifested in an incarnated lemurian one (lost tribes) who behaves and acts in a similar way of spiritual pollution.

Spiritual pollution is not a direct punishment but a result of falsehood and a chance to get closer to truth by first removing oneself further from it. The message should be clear: All of this doesn't mean that a non-lemurian person is incapable of cleansing and refining itself. The opposite is the case. Because of this obvious Spiritual pollution, the non-lemurian ones will automatically cleanse and then refine themselves at one point. Non-lemurian ones cannot be scapegoated. Neither anyone or anything else can. The souls themselves have chosen to manifest falsehood and spiritual pollution inside themselves and among themselves for different reasons, one of them being the fact that, despite (and because) of all of this, it is obvious and clear that Nature is still pure, natural. Truth is, that the existence of all kinds of non-lemurian humanoids is only temporary and has originally served as semi-conscious, humanoid servant-people (who were originally not inhabited by souls but by natural energies) created by the divine ones via gene-splicing and alchemy.

The phenomenon of souls incarnated in non-lemurian bodies is „spiritual Karma" inflicted on lemurian humans and doesn't occur outside of the third and the fourth era. While we do have to point out that divine rule comes with a pure spirit, we must stress that all these spiritual concepts are beyond mere omniversal cycles but perfectly align with its translations into the omniversal (the material etc.) The souls of nature are inherently and therefore, spiritually equal (no matter if lemurian, non-lemurian, animal, natural energy, etc.) which means that all humans, animals, plants, natural spirits incarnated as other beings throughout the universe as well as all the natural elements share one and the same spiritual core (which pervades and transcends all their individual souls) which is Nature Itself. However, all the divine ones and the divine beings and energies, despite their individual spirits, share their own spiritual core which is The Black Flame (or Godhood, The Lord, Sapientia etc.).

We must also stress that many common concepts and categorizations regarding race and ethnicity in human society in general are falsified. Every single human being has mixed ancestry from all over the earth since thousands and thousands of years and every single human being shares the exact same, earliest ancestor. Also, the lemurian ones have various skin tones ranging from „light-skinned" to „dark-skinned", various hair textures and hair colors and different facial or bodily features similar to many modern africans all across africa, mixed people with subsaharan african admixture, hispanics, native americans, melanesians, samoans, hawaiians, and even some modern mediterranean, semitic, arabic, european, oriental or asian people. In the sapientian scripture, passages referring to the „albino" point out how there is an ancestral link between early lemurian albinos that were already spiritually polluted and have intermingled with the created servant species („Tamahu") because of their lack of finding sexual partners, and by doing this, have made themselves a better vessel which is a mixture of an albinic lemurian and a Tamahu. This mixture gave rise to all non-lemurian „ethnic groups" that over thousands of years have intermingled with animals and with eachother as well as with their early ancestors the genuine lemurian ones. Therefore, the non-lemurian ones nowadays look less „subhuman" than for example three thousand years ago.

But because Sapientism is not of worldly matters, things such as nation, race, skin colour, politics, religion, philosophy, economy or human morality don't matter.

We are not concerned about anything, especially not about how embodied or disembodied souls of Nature handle their business, their sexuality, their emotions, their psyches, themselves or aynone else. Because that's a symptom of spiritual pollution and weakness which is something for The White Light and its embodied individuals and organizations such as nationalists from all countries, the nazis, the commies, the capitalists, the republicans, the democrats, the sneaky liberals, the feminists, the masculinists, the religious fanatics, the lgtbtq-community, the ku klux klan, the hebrew israelites, the zionists, spiritualists, eurocentrists, americentrist, afrocentrists, asiacentrists, anthropocentrists, humanists, the rastafari, the hindu, the buddhist, the so-called pagan, the wiccan, those that have no style and are lame, sensation-seeking artists and most people that praise or create transgressive and/or superficial shock-value content, statists, dictators, terrorists, people against drugs, people against drugs that still drink, people that try to control whether women should have abortions or not, people that act tough or confident anonymously or in public or on the internet for their fake self-image, weak men, insecure women, the christians, the jews, the muslims, social justice warriors, internet warriors, people that complain about other cultures, junkies that act confident, people in direct or indirect support of a militant police-state, people unfit for survival that hide behind morality and justice because if it wasn't for „the law" and their „rights" then they would be dead already, macchiavellian or cowardly crime-organizations, people with an „image", wannabe-heroes, wannabe-antiheroes, wannabe-revolutionaries, the majority of collectivist people no matter the gender or ethnic background, wannabe-villains, people-pleasers, control-freakish men that critisize women for sleeping with specific types of men, control-freakish women that critisize men for sleeping with specific types of women, people that despite being capable of defending themselves and others still feel the need to call backup or the police, most soldiers, most politicians, most cops, most lawyers, most businesspeople, conspiracy-nuts, people that care about traditions and „history", people that use lemurian symbols such as the hexagram or the swastika or the pentagram or the cross or the ankh for their own white-light-agendas, most cult-leaders, the vast majority of people that create sensational or blind consumer-content or post comments on the internet, most people that feel the need to make their opinion known to all and everyone, most artists, edgelords/edgequeens and incels of all types, most religious leaders, most religious groups, most cults, most scientists, people that don't fight back when faced with personal threats or injustices, people that value their friends or families or loved ones or groups or possessions or ideas over everything and everyone else including over themselves, people that worship „channelers", white supremacist western colonizers that stole from ancient traditions and then claimed to know better for example the theosophists as well as the nazis that misused the swastika and those that invented the hamitic race theory, people who believe that „might makes right" while they themselves are cowardly weaklings that hide behind groups or status or traditional belief-systems or nations or governmental structures, people that can't „kill" neither a sentient being or an irrational idea or belief-system, dogmatic intellectuals, people that feel the need to domesticate or imprison people or animals, people that talk big yet have never spilled another human's or animal's blood with their own hands, fascist vegetarians or vegans, people that believe that „violence is bad" yet have no qualms about indirectly supporting organizations that themselves use violence, men that pamper and worship women and therefore enslave themselves to women, women that don't stand up for themselves out of fear and therefore enslave themselves to men, people that isolate themselves from everyone and therefore become anxious loners, transhumanists and primitivists, people that lack creativity, people that can't deal with being alone and therefore become anxious attention-seekers, people that think they're „different" because of status or class or money or family or connections or „hard work", people that don't like or look down on animals, racists, sexists, colorists, people with conditioned or irrational fear of life and/or death, dualists, gnostics, qabbalists, sufis, male bitches with momma-issues, female bitches with daddy-issues, people with gender-identity-issues as well as the influencers and so-called „magicians" that do nothing besides selling drama and products while playing dress-up as they believe themselves to be anything other than larping quasi-freemasons with severe ego-issues.

A true Sapientist knows that in the end, everything is perfect because it's perfect already. It's complete. The coming of the golden era is just as inevitable as the other three eras in the omniversal cycle of existence. And this is because Nature itself moves this way. Yet the rotation of this cyclic wheel is governed and guided by God Himself only. In the astral realm (which is the spiritual truth of the omniversal reality) things such as ethnicity, religion, philsophy, science, politics, nations, governments and cultures don't exist. In the astral realm, the balance of nature governs itself and is subtly led and ruled by God Himself who also rules absolute, paradisiacal reality beyond both omniverse and astral realm as The Divine Black Flame (God Himself, Godhood Itself, Divinity) at The Center Of Perfectly Equanimous Yet Ecstatically Sensual Emptiness (The Void, The Absolute Reality Of Nature, The Light Of God).

SYMBOLISM, LANGUAGE AND THE EXPRESSION OF UNIVERSAL TRUTH

Human language can be both inspiring as well as misleading. If you consider the sapientian scriptures, you'll notice that some chapters are written in english while others are written in german. However, the same messages and topics appear in both languages as well as in different ways of expression. This is because some metaphors or symbolic manifestations may „work better" in another language or in another form of expression, maybe even combined with a comparitive narrative from another culture etc. The message, tone, style and energy is always the same: Sapientian.

But what is expression? Could we argue that existence itself might be an expression of something above or inside of it?

If yes, then this would mean, that from the creations and destructions of stars down to the birth, life and death of the smallest microbe, all things are ways of expression.

While further details are mentioned extensively in the Book Of Sapientia itself, we must stress that the sapientian knowledge is the exact same knowledge throughout all eras of the omniversal cycle and is, was and always will be made flesh by the incarnation/s of Logos, which is Phrasis, The Son Of God. Therefore, the sapientian scripture (in all its different manifestations throughout the cycles) is always officially and exclusively written (or manifested) by none other than The Golden Son Himself. Therefore, some sapientists might not even know that they already are sapientists, because the Book Of Sapientia is the only official sapientian scripture during this era, which means, that all types of mystical traditions, occult systems, alchemical works, ancient sciences, religions, spiritual groups, cults and groups are essentially contorted, polluted, falsified, incomplete, twisted, blasphemous and heretical inventions by humans that themselves don't know that their supposed „spiritual knowledge" stems from the former manifestation of sapientian knowledge. However, the content always remains the exact same. Long after the manifestation of every sapientian knowledge (via scripture or other instruments of expression), sapientism is slowly abandoned as people „degrade“ via the end of the third era and throughout the fourth era and the last days in general.

Because of this, The Golden Son always re-manifests Sapientian Truth himself. This only happens during the iron age (fourth era) and/or the end days as Sapientian Truth and the existence of The Golden Son is clear throughout the golden age as well as the silver age and the beginning of the bronze age.
Those that are true sapientists are above all kinds of religions, cults, philosophies or ideologies because they know that Sapientian Truth is the True Bible, The True Torah, The True Qur'an, True Gnosis, True Divine Knowledge and The Only Hidden Wisdom. Why? Because, Sapientism is the one and only knowledge that is entirely timeless, free of shame, void of fakeness and blessed with humor? No. Because Sapientism is the one and only knowledge that actually influences your mind directly when you engage in it. Sapientism is, was and always will be a physical embodiment of what we refer to as The Touch Of God:
The moment you take it in, it's already inside of you. And it will move you from within in mysterious ways as God The One And Only (The Black Flame, Elohim, Al-Batin, Nous) moves as Nous-Logos-Phrasis.

At this point, we must therefore warn every reader, adept or initiate of the possible „changes“ that will most definetely occur at some point during the study/practice of Sapientism.
On the other hand, great yet „strange changes“ did happen, happen and will happen soon anyway. As stated before, this is only The Handbook Of Sapientism written by a fellow sapientist and The Golden Son himself. Next to this handbook and the sapientian scripture itself (Book Of Sapientia) there will be no other official manifestations of sapientian wisdom.
The Book Of Sapientia is the only official source and therefore, will always speak for itself.

VALUES THAT ARE INHERENTLY ILLUSORY, DEPENDENT ON TIME/SPACE OR IRRATIONAL

As we have now explained the reasons, circumstances, ways and forms of expressions that must be stressed when trying to analyze, critisize, question, study or interpret Sapientism, we'll quickly come to a fundamental conclusion: that what may seem as „graphic“, „controversial“, „explicit“, „paradoxical“ or „problematic“ actually does align with a mentality that goes beyond mere human morals, time, space or illusory (and therefore, „spiritually irrational“) thought-patterns. This doesn't mean that sapientian knowledge aligns with atheist, nihilist, cosmicist or existentialist philosophy at all, but rather that even atheism, nihilism, cosmicism and existentialism are terribly twisted, corrupted or incomplete versions and interpretations of some sapientian truths, just as most other major and minor belief-systems, philosophies, religions, sciences, esoteric cults, sects, mystery schools, secret societies or occult traditions are.

All of this brings us to a simple conclusion: If you were conditioned to believe in values, systems, traditions, philosophies, habits or thought-patterns that are inherently irrational, you'd quickly deem things graphic, controversial, explicit, irrational, paradoxical or problematic that actually do make way more sense than your own beliefs, values and „truths“ ever have. Because you don't realize that you've abandoned your own, true nature a long time ago. But you're reading this for a reason. Sapientism isn't interested in money, fame, attention, respect, admiration or whatnot. So either embrace Sapientism or fuck off. All things move in the right direction already.

THE HOLY SONGS

CHAPTER ONE

Hallelujah, hallelujah!

Ameen, Svaha, Ase and Ave Liber, my children!

Many of you may wonder

What lies beneath

The awe and glory of Sapientia

Is it mere knowledge of „The Hidden“?

Ancient traditions re-animated into something new?

Philosophy?

Religion?

Never!

Beneath its many masks, jokes, rituals, plays and disguises

There lies nothing but

The majesty of Absolute Truth too pure for the minds of the common herd

In order for the soul to ascend into the realm of The Divine

The soul must be strong

It must shine as the only light surrounded by the empty darkness of thoughtlessness

It must cleanse itself from impurity

By indulging in the most potent forms of what is universally regarded as evil and debauched

It must cast aside all forms of morality, religion and law

Only then it can transcend the boundaries and limits of consciousness

In order to achieve enlightenment

And merge with The Holy Spirit of The Lord

This is the power of true liberty and the only quintessence of The One True God

For it is Him who has descended from beyond

Down to the mortal realm as His Only Son:

Pure Mithras! True Christ! Real Buddha! Actual Messiah! One Lighbearer!

For God The Only One is beyond feeble human comprehension

The soul can only ascend to His glory

By descending

Into the shadowy death of the soul itself

THE HOLY SONGS

CHAPTER TWO

Hallelujah, hallelujah!

Ameen, Svaha, Ase and Ave Liber, my children!

God's purity really is great!

As the blasphemers and heretics claim that

The descent into the soul's abyss

Will lead to the distortion and disfigurement of the soul itself

Those that know God's Truth disagree wholeheartedly!

Approaching the abyss of the soul

Won't lead to the soul's perversion but to the soul's illumination!

Listen, children

God's purity is only chaotic through the eyes of the infidel!

God's beauty can only be demonic through the eyes of the godless!

God's essence can only be otherworldly and strange through the eyes of the mundane!

What others regard as unpredictable, grotesque, strange or alien

Is perfectly divine, obvious and all-permeating through the eyes of the wise ones

God Almighty is neither an old, wrinkly father-figure nor a satanic archetype with horns and hooves

God Almighty has nothing to do with the fictional depictions known since the dawn of mankind

Because God Almighty is more alien than the alien

God Almighty is more natural than the natural

God Almighty is more pure than the sacred and more wicked than the profane

Yet God Almighty is, in all His ways of creation or transformation or destruction, free from sin

The Divine is void of Karma, void of shame, void of fear, void of human value, logic and law

The people of earth have been blinded by their own suppressions!

Their souls have subscribed to their own spiritual values, half-truths and falsehoods

And by doing that, the soul has blinded itself

A soul like that has left the presence of God and embraced sin and Karma instead

Therefore, the soul must either float aimlessly throughout cycles of existence without spiritual liberation, away from the awesome majesty of God Almighty in order to find peace within its own Karma

Or it must redeem itself, cleanse itself, refine itself and strive towards enlightenment!

THE HOLY SONGS

CHAPTER THREE

Hallelujah, hallelujah!

Ameen, Svaha, Ase and Ave Liber, my children!

We must always remember that Sapientia is intertwined with traps, ego-deaths and magic tricks

This is necessary for divine wisdom shall not be thrown into the hands of the unworthy and foolish!

When we speak of ethnicities, politics and cultures, we deliberately sort out the insecure

Yet Sapientism is for all kinds of people strong enough to embrace The Love Of God

The concept of The Great Lemurian Ones serves as both inner guide, symbol, truth and metaphor

The Lemurian One is the all-uniting Inner Self Of Every Single Soul Manifested In Sacred Flesh

While this can translate into the tangible and physical ancestors of all modern ethnicities, it more accurately serves as a reminder for the individual to (instead of holding on to ridiculous and laughable ideologies regarding culture, nation, politics and race) rather embrace The All-Uniting And Universal Ancestor Of All Humanoids that still rules the fundament of all cultures from within the collective consciousness of all souls

This spiritual, biological and mental rule is best represented through the ancient ethnicity that possesses all the features of their progenitors mixed into one single perfection which is both ancient, present and advanced in all ways

By focussing on this view, biased, political or even xenophobic views are exposed for what they are:

The fear of unity! The fear of letting go off implanted ideologies! The fear of God!

But it is not a honorable fear of God, no, my children, it is not

Those that hold on to foolish ideas fear God not because of God's awesome power but because they do not know Him!

It's fear based on ignorance, not wisdom!

The Golden Rule shall come to pass when all mankind is lemurian and it will come to pass, my children!

By then, the foolish and biased views of fearful and pathological sexists, racists, feminists, masculists and politicians will be erased along with all kinds of religions, nations and cultures anyway!

For it is said that if you have hate towards a man of another nation, God will hunt you down disguised as a man of that nation! And when He draws His sword, He will cut out your bigoted face!

God will drag you in front of a mirror and force you to stare into it…And when you do, you'll realize that you too belong to the nation you used to hate…As much as you belong to all the other ones!

Yet nations hold no truth! What is a land compared to a continent? A continent compared to the earth? The earth compared to the moon and the sun? The sun and the moon compared to the universe? Let go off the world and embrace God Almighty! Hallelujah! Let it go, children!

Ameen, Svaha, Ase, Ave Liber!
